

Granutools, is a leading-edge provider of instrument for powder flow characterization for the additive manufacturing sector.

Production Engineer Junior

Main responsibilities involve to:

- Assemble and test Granutools instruments under tight deadlines
- Guarantee product quality
- Select the best quality parts and enquire with suppliers
- Install Granutools instruments at customer sites (worldwide) and provide training
- Work on system improvements and new functionalities development (up to 20% of your working time)

To this end, we are looking for:

- Industrial engineer background
- Maximum 3 years work experience, young graduates are welcome!
- Passionate about building things
- Precise and detail oriented
- Interest in:
  - Working in industrial environment
  - Equipment or instrumentation
- Excellent communication skills
- Fluent in French and good command of English (written and spoken)
- Willingness to travel up to 30% internationally (inside and outside of Europe)
- Interest to work in a high growth business

We offer:

- To work with top tier companies with large R&D and industrial facilities with daily customer interactions in an international environment.
- The opportunity to work with clear and measurable objectives
- A key role in a small company with high growth potential
- A stable and rewarding position
- A motivating working environment involving many different tasks
- A good salary package aligned with the benchmark for industrial companies

Starting day and availability:

- Location: Liege, Belgium
- ASAP
- Full time

Contact: Marie-Laure Mullenders

Email: admin@granutools.com - Mobile : +32 494 63 76 85 – www.granutools.com